RE: MUR 6805

I received the complaint from Mr. Anthony Sinapi about contributions I have made to various committees and candidates over the past twelve years. Some of those contributions were recorded by the treasurers of those campaigns under my current name and some under a previous married name.

Many people have known me as Patricia Mulligan and continue to use that name. Until recently my checks displayed my former name, Patricia Mulligan. I use electronic bill pay for the majority of my payments, so it has taken a long time to use the checks I had. In fact, as you will note from the statement I am supplying, even though I visited Citizens Bank to change the name on my checking account, they are still using Patricia Mulligan on the account and are sending out 'bill pay' checks in that name. I have crossed out personal information.

When I send a check to a candidate, I fill out the contribution information form. As you will notice many of the recipients denoted my current name when they filed their reports. I can only assume that in the other cases the treasurer believed they needed to use the name on the check.

At the federal level, neither the candidates or their treasurer's would have known me.

Please let me know if you need any additional information.

Warmest wishes,

Patricia Morgan
